

Case Studies

Davies & Robson have successfully developed and maintained a unique and well respected position in the field of logistics and supply chain consultancy and are now the UK's largest independent specialist.

With over eighty years' experience supporting and working with a range of domestic and multi-national organisations, including both the users and providers of logistics services, Davies & Robson have gained an in-depth knowledge of the fundamental strategies and systems that underpin and drive successful logistics operations.

Brian Templar, Chairman, says:

“LogiX is a fully versatile and effective transport planning tool that has assisted us in supporting our clients in many varied and complex scenarios.”
